

October 2017

Cassidy, Cashlyn and Marci are a rising sensation in the world of rodeo. These girls are not only beautiful and talented, they are the true definition of cowgirls. I have been coaching the Calamity Cowgirls now for 4 years. These young ladies show great determination and commitment at every single practice. Each rider has experienced many challenges such as training their own horses, body limitations, falls, and injuries. They have always been able to persevere as a team and with a positive attitude. They truly make the most difficult tricks look easy with smiles on their faces through hours of dedicated training. These ladies have tremendous talent which is easy to see during their performances, leaving rodeo crowds across Canada and the US on their feet.

Each member of the team has proven their incredible strength and athleticism. During their performances you will witness the comradery between horse and rider. They amaze crowds with their ability to perform acrobatic moves on horseback while running at high speeds. They know how to perform their stunts while quickly capturing the audience.

After performing at many rodeos across Saskatchewan, North Dakota, and Montana these ladies now have the experience to become an excellent addition to any rodeo. Without a doubt, the Calamity Cowgirls are one of the best up and coming contract acts in the world of rodeo. Their speed, fearlessness, and exceptional talent will add an exciting, upbeat and entertaining element to your rodeo.

As their coach I couldn't be more proud of these girls and passion they share for the sport of trick riding.

Laura (Lausen) Melle
Coach of the Calamity Cowgirl's